

Sometimes it's all about how others see you.

Once again, in the annual U.S. News & World Report survey on America's Best Hospitals, ophthalmologists from around the country ranked Bascom Palmer Eye Institute one of the top two eye hospitals in the United States. This honor is a great testimony to our experience and technology. More importantly, if any member of their families needed a procedure, the best eye doctors in the world would tell them to travel long distances to get here. And that makes you very lucky. Because you don't have to.
